FOREWORD

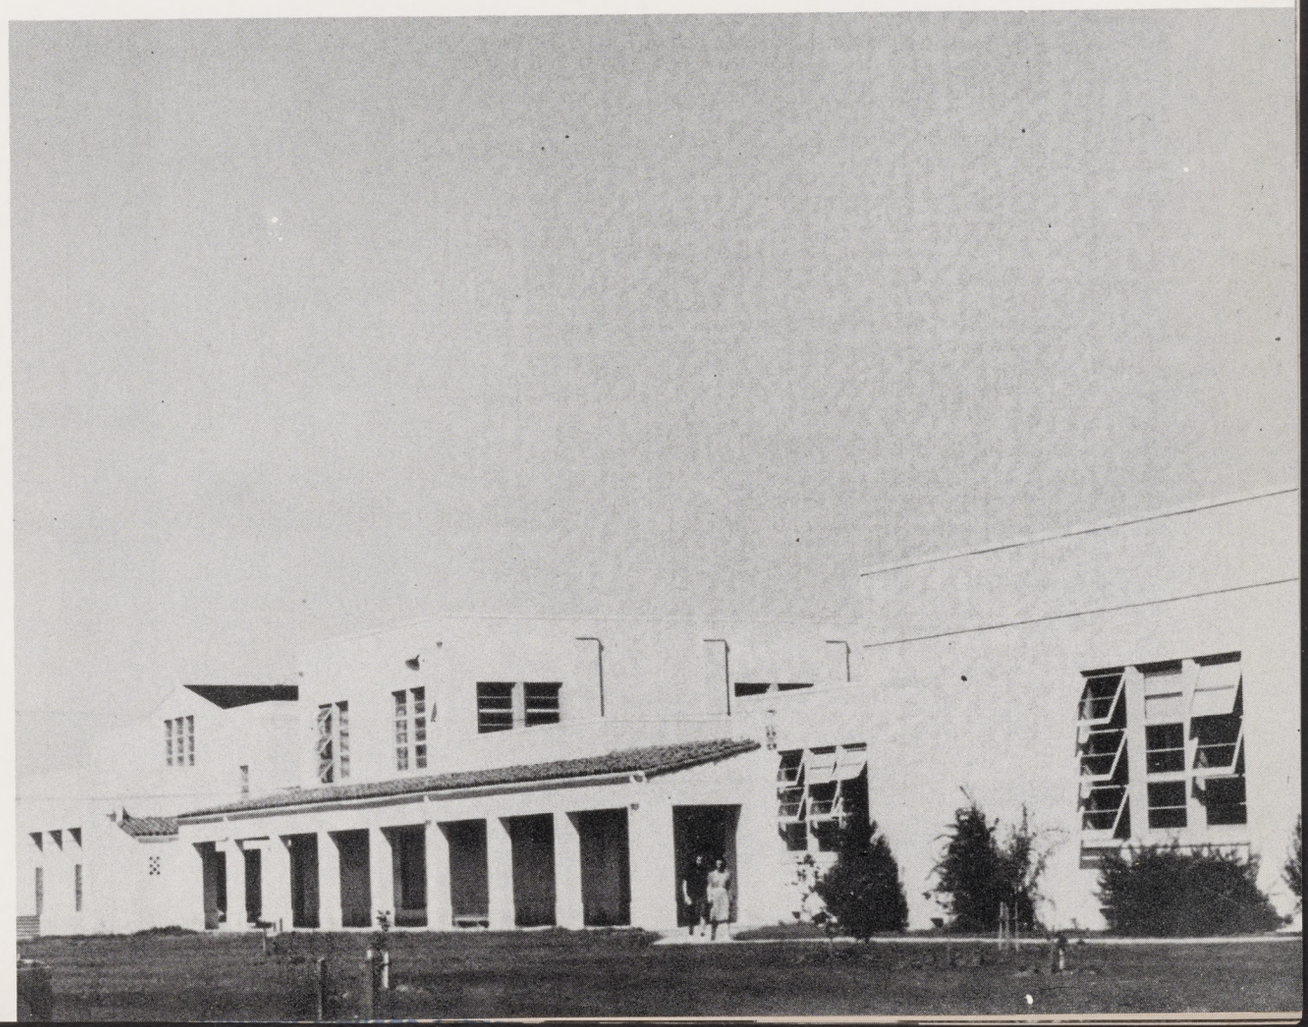

Salinas Junior College Library

Pictorially and editorially the purpose of this book has been to review and permanently record the events of the college year 1939-1940. It has been the aim of the staff to include as many pictures as space would warrant, so that the memories you have of friends and activities at the Salinas Junior College will never fade but will be part of your most cherished possessions.

MAIN OFFICE

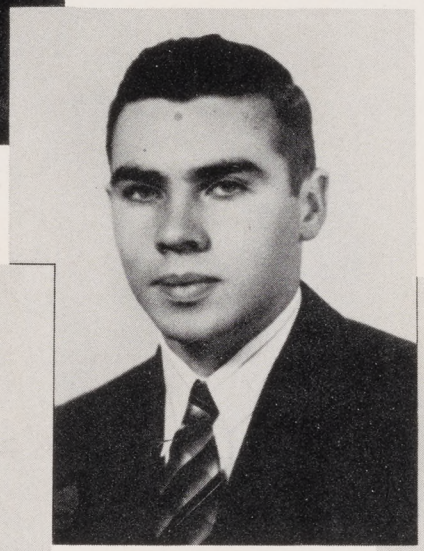

A bigger and better J. C. is ours. New courses have been added to our curriculum and new instructors to our staff. In September, under the supervision of capable teachers, the Salinas Junior College again went into operation. The recently completed unit of administration offices have added much to the convenience and pleasure of the teachers and students alike. President Werner's "open door" policy has given him the much desired confidence of the students. Secretary Nettie Wiechring's cheerful service contributed greatly to the efficiency of the office, while Dean Anne Lescesin not only gave council and guidance to the women students but also maintained a placement bureau which has helped to keep many students in school. Dean Earl Sauble gave helpful direction to the men students and also acted as advisor to the commission. All decisions regarding the College depend on the verdict of the school board, and we owe them a vote of thanks for cooperating with us to make our school better in quantity and quality.

TED SPAULDING

Under the able leadership of Ted Spaulding the student body of Salinas Junior College has gone far in becoming one of the outstanding Junior Colleges in the state.

Always willing to lend Ted a helping hand have been the members of the student commission. They are Ruth Nunes, student body secretary; Clair Young, Commissioner of Finance, and his assistant Charles Priddy; Eugene Cava and Phyllis Gwynn, Commissioners of Men's Athletics and Women's Athletics respectively; and Marlen Dimick, Commissioner of Publications. Charles Stefan has served as Sophomore class commissioner, while Bob Drew has acted in this capacity for the Freshmen.

CHARLES STEFAN

RICHARD J. WERNER, President.—B.S. Oregon State College, 1917; M.S. University of California, 1923; graduate study, Stanford University, 1929-'30.

Instructor in Chemistry, Oregon State, 1916-'17; captain Base Hospital 46, 159th Infantry, France, 1917-'18; principal Esparto Union High School, 1919-'23; California State Department of Education, 1923-'32; field manager, Golden State Company, Lt., 1932-'37. At Salinas since 1937.

The 1940 La Reata, a pictorial review of the college year from September, 1939, to Commencement, June, 1940, can bring to you only a partial picture of your college life. But experience has proven to those of us who were graduated many years ago that the yearbook is one of the most valued of our possessions. The editorial staff has worked hard so that this year's La Reata may be the most representative book that has been published by the Salinas Junior College. We hope that you and your fellow alumni will keep it as one of your cherished remembrances of your undergraduate years.

RICHARD J. WERNER, President.

Officers of Administration

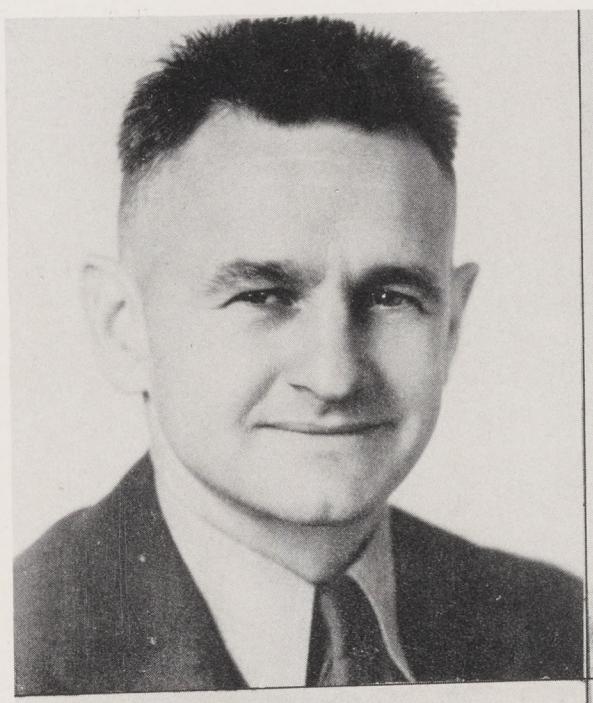

Mr. Richard J. Werner, President of the Salinas Junior College, is one of the best liked men in the community. The Junior College is very fortunate in having such an able, kindly, and energetic man as its head. He always has a minute for everyone, and in this way has won the hearts of all the students.

Secretary to President Werner is Nettie Wiechring, a person he would find it hard to do without. Nettie is the information bureau of the office, who tells you what you want to know. She also has charge of the school calendar.

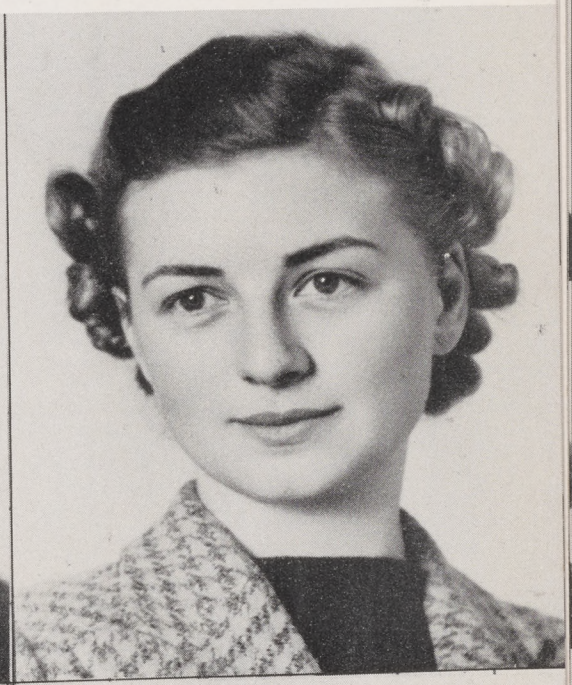

That little man who is always so willing to take your money away from you is G. Darwin Peavy, the registrar of the college. One of his many duties is to see that all entering students pay their entrance fees.

Congratulations are in order for Anne Lescisin on the grand job she has done in her new role of Dean of Women. She is also head of the Placement Bureau.

Earl Sauble is that man the men go to see when "pink slips" come out. It is his painful duty as Dean of Men to see that you men are on your toes.

G. DARWIN PEAVY, Registrar—B.S. Oregon State, 1923; M.A. Stanford University, '36. Instructor, Montezuma Boys' School, 1928-'29; physical director, Olympic Club, 1929-'31; Stanford University, 1931-'37. At Salinas since 1937.

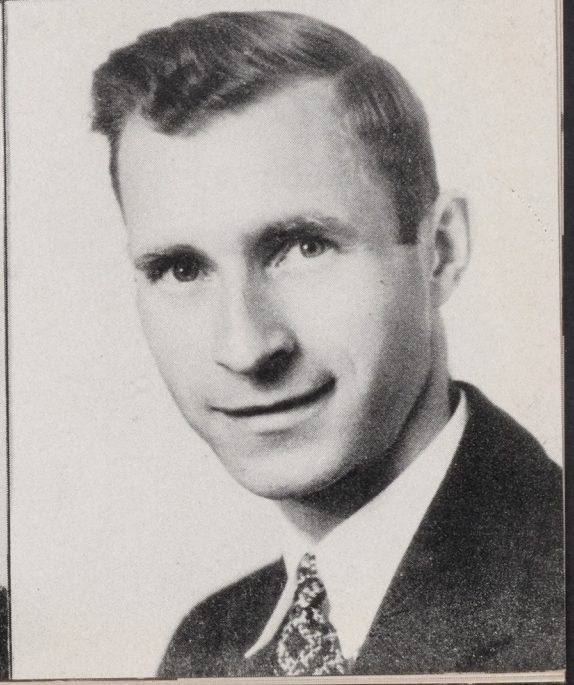

MISS NETTIE WIECHRING, Secretary to the President.

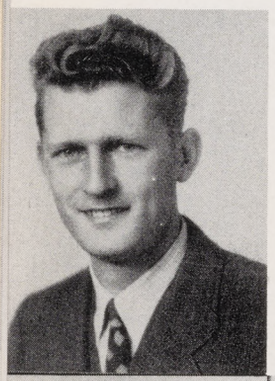

ANNE M. LESCISIN, Dean of Women; Instructor in Commerce. B.A., M.A., Indiana University, 1932; University of California, 1934-'36. Assistant, University of California, 1935-'36; St. Helena High School; Cowles Commission for Research in Economics, 1932-'34; Statistician, U. S. Department of Agriculture, 1936-'38. At Salinas since 1938.

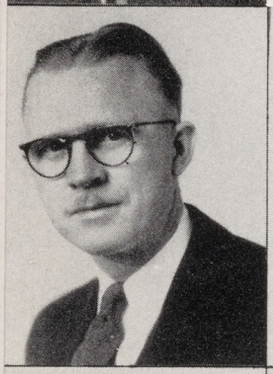

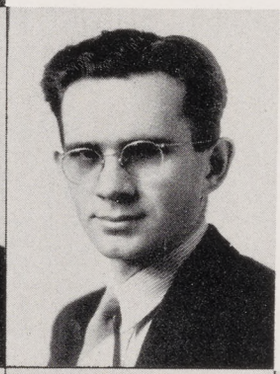

EARL F. SAUBLE, Instructor in Mathematics; Dean of Men. B.A. University of California, University of California, summer 1935. Instructor mathematics and physics, Williams Junior College, Berkeley, 1929; M.A. University of California, 1930; graduate study, 1929-'31. At Salinas since 1931.

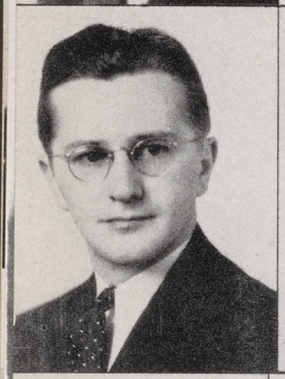

Faculty

Five new male teachers have been added to the fold this year. Four the first semester, and one the second semester.

Karl J. Bengston, instructor in Economics, is one of the newcomers.

Marsdon A. Sherman, new head of the commerce department, divides his time between teaching commercial subjects and organizing the drum-majorettes for next year's marching band. He has been here for only one semester.

Two new members were added to the science department, Dr. Eldon J. Gardner, instructor in Biological Sciences, and William J. McCallum, instructor in Chemistry.

To the agricultural department came La Rain Marble, who has done a very good job of turning the bare field near the chemistry wing into a blooming pansy bed.

Faculty Activities

Many students may be laboring under false ideas as to the fun that the members of their faculty have. They really have just as good a time as many of the students have during the school year.

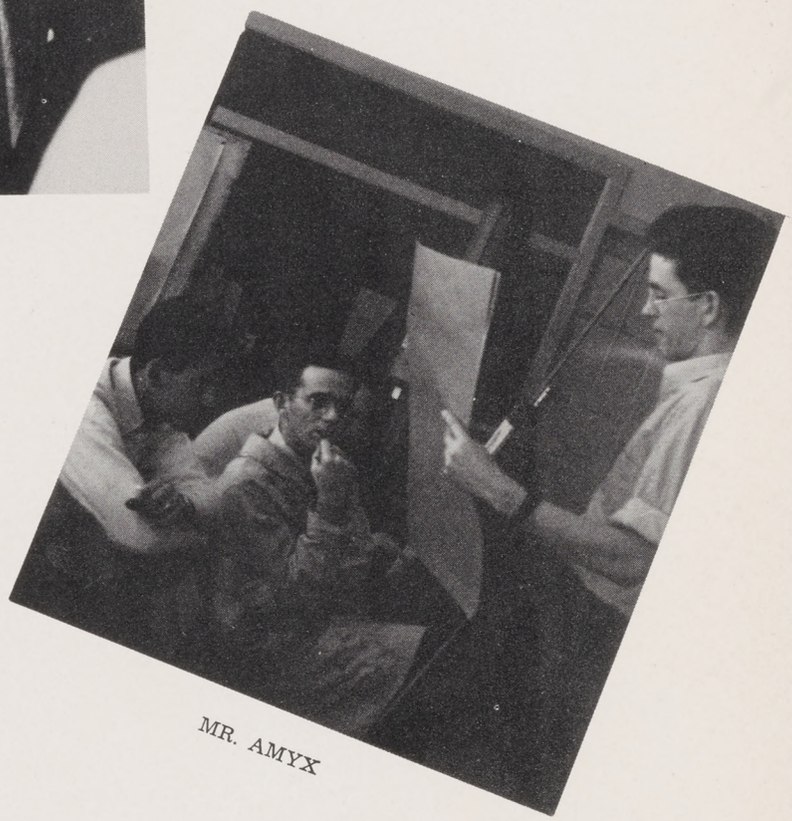

Fun for all was the bill at the annual picnic of the teachers of the Salinas school district, held at Asilomar on October 7.

Later in October, President and Mrs. Werner entertained the faculty with a dinner given at their home. On April 9, the faculty honored President and Mrs. Werner with a dinner given at the Normandie Inn in Carmel.

December 13 found Mr. and Mrs. Marble greatly surprised when the members of the faculty arrived at their home uninvited to give them a house-warming.

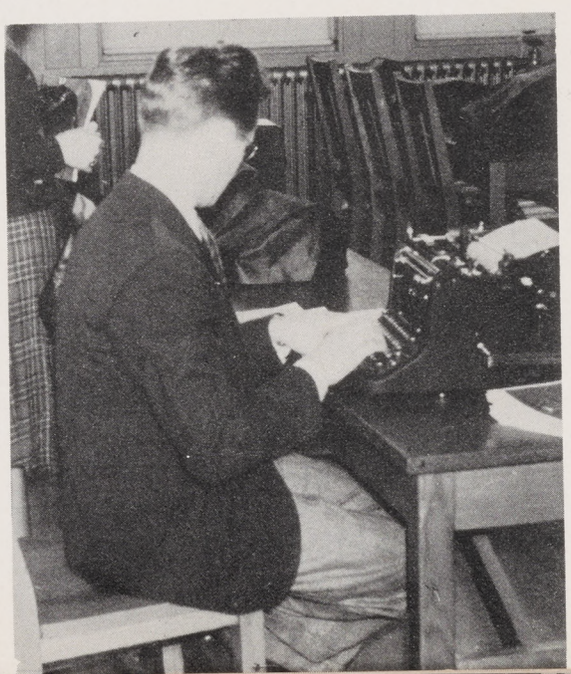

The Rainbow Club of the Junior College entertained the women members of the faculty and the faculty wives at a tea given during the first semester of the year.

To wind up a very successful year, a barbecue was held on April 30.

School Board

Untiring workers behind the junior college are those men who give so generously of their time and their abilities that this institution has become what it is. They are thinking always of the next advanced step so that Salinas Junior College will continue to hold its rightful place among the forward-looking junior colleges in the State of California.

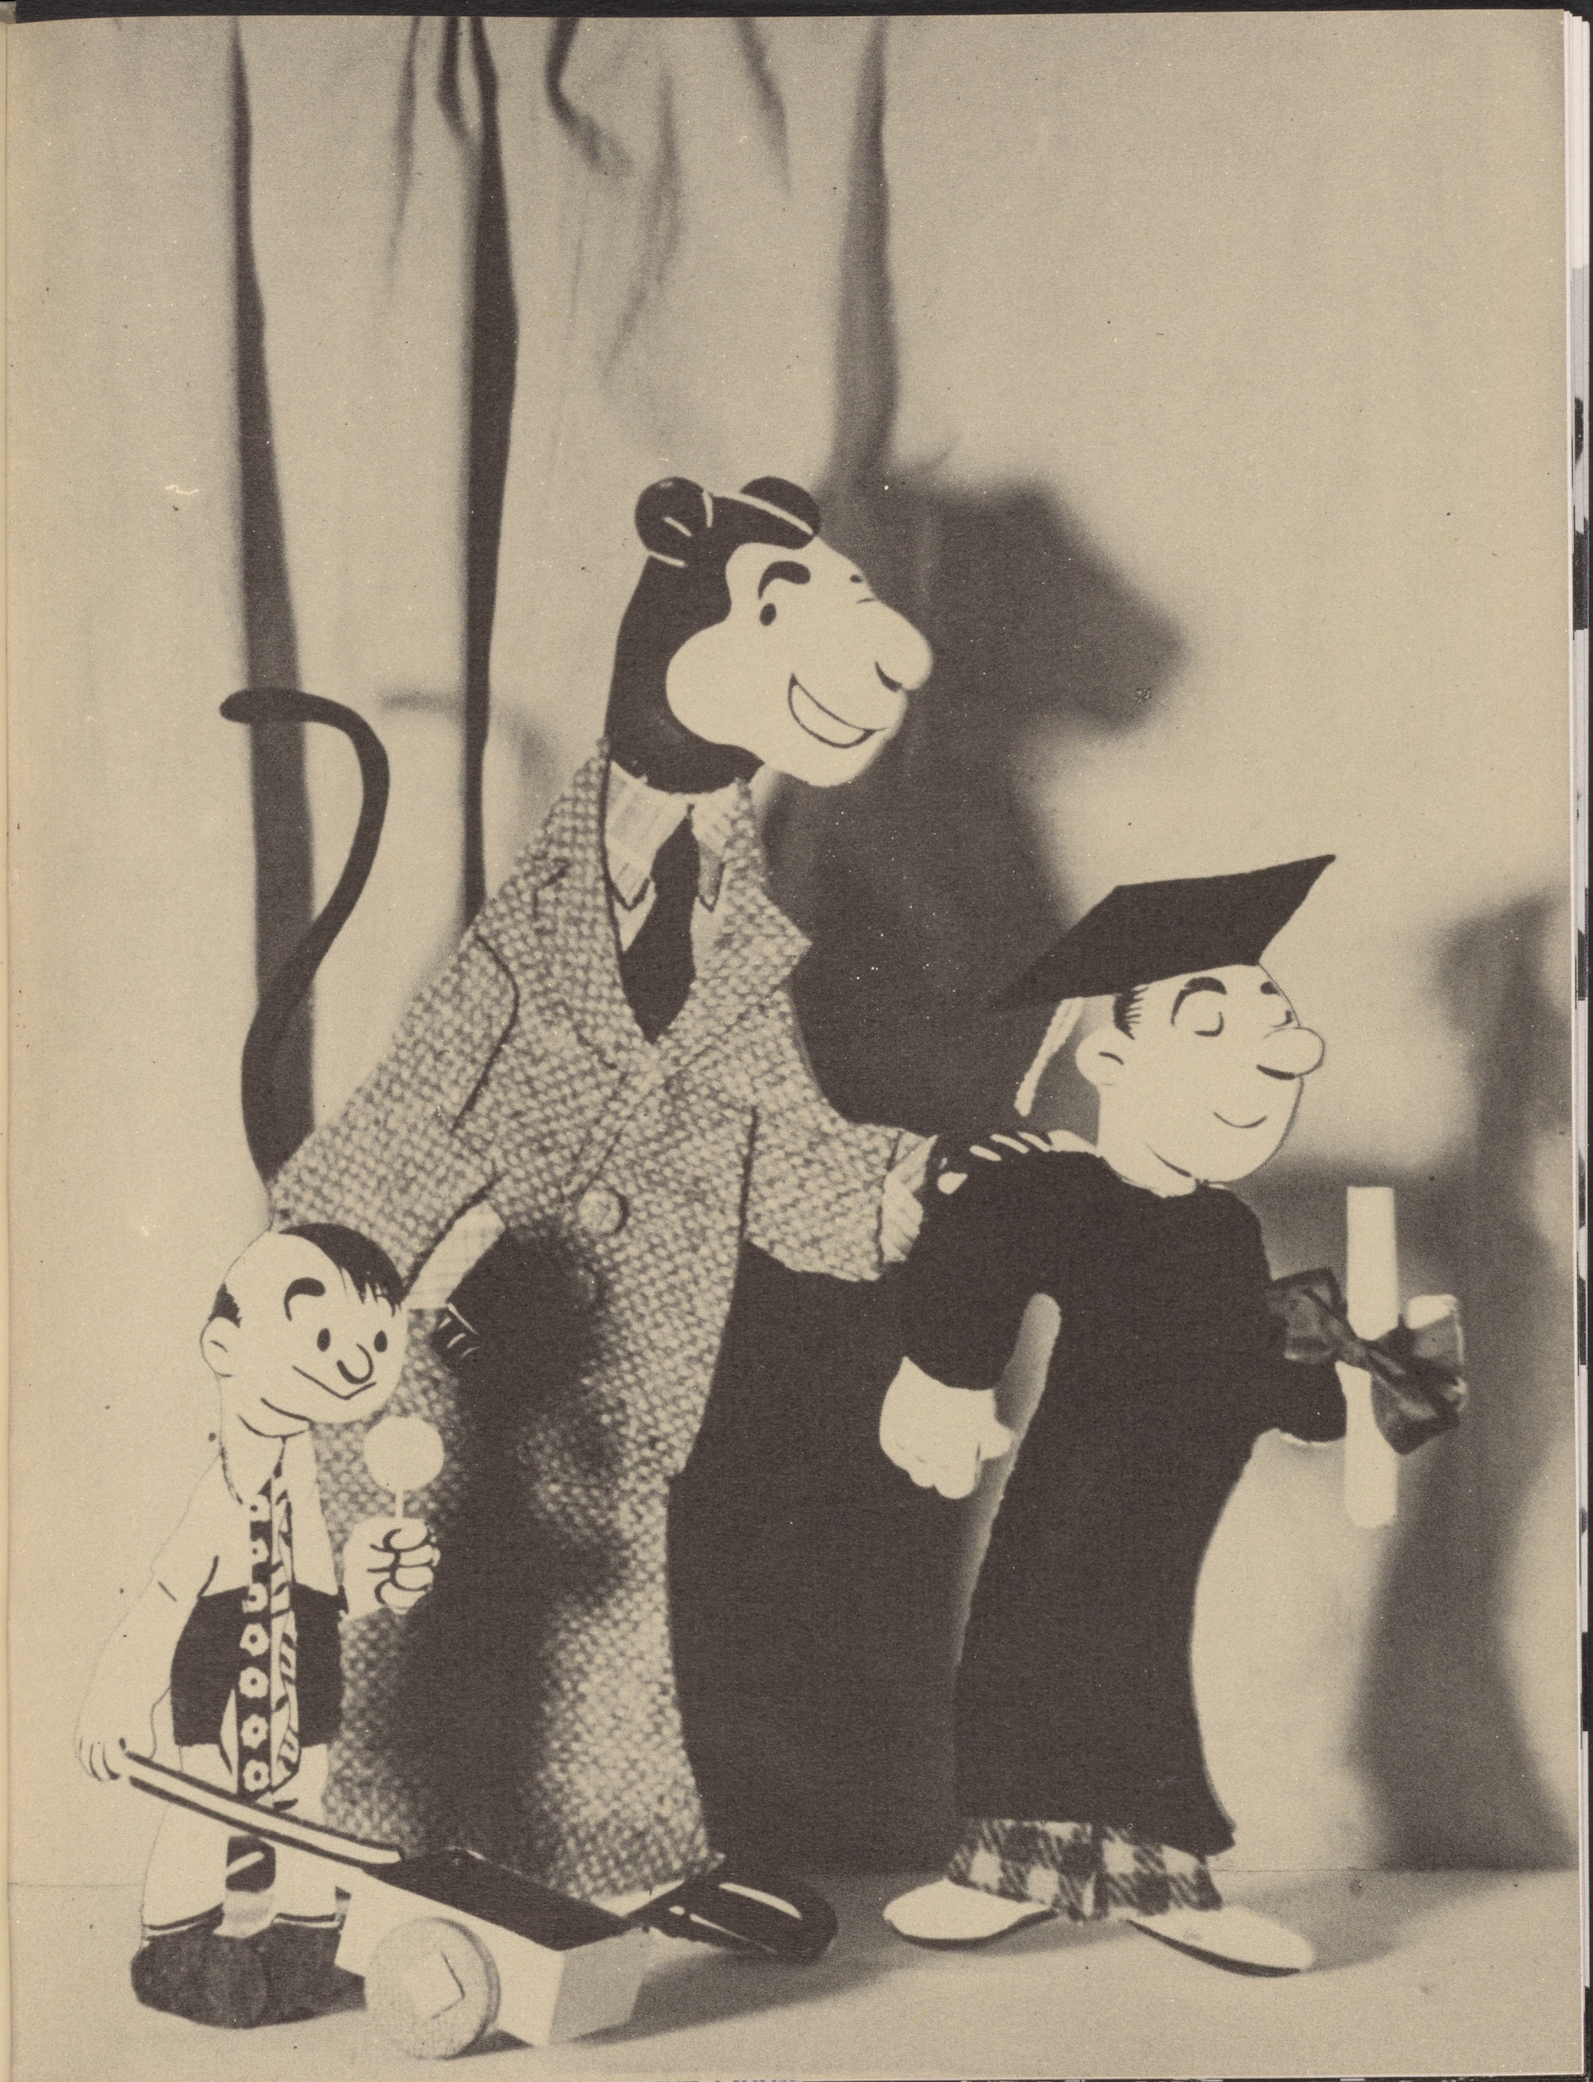

The Board of Trustees is composed of the following men: Harry Noland, J. D., attorney-at-law, President of the Board; William M. Hayes, D. D. S., dentist; Everett Knowlton, farmer; W. B. Murray, B. S., manager of Sego Milk Company; M. B. Young, manager of J. C. Penney Company; R. D. Case, Ed. D., secretary and Superintendent of Schools.

CLASSES

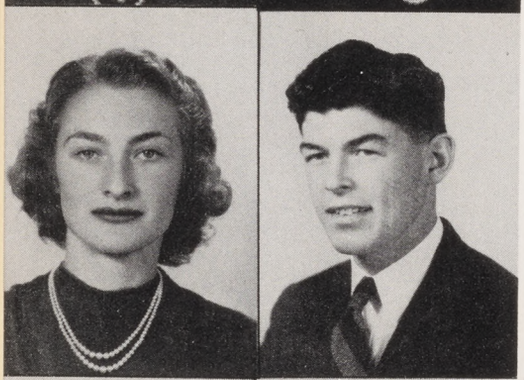

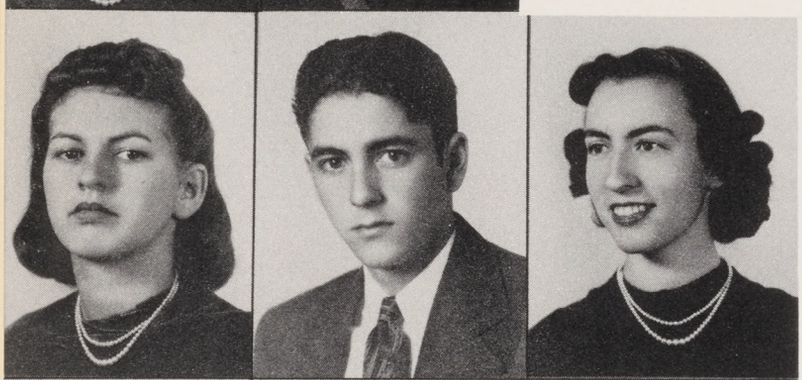

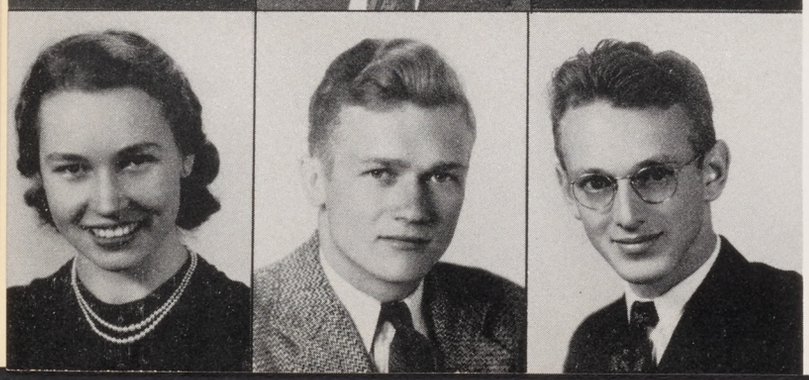

JUNIOR COLLEGE LIBRARY

Time marches on! The second class to complete both years at the present junior college plant graduates, and the third class is coming up. This year, thanks to the individual pictures of all the students in the school, we have a separate picture for each student as well as the more formal picture of the seniors. This gives us a chance to see in years to come what our friends really looked like.

MAIN HALL DURING NOON HOUR

At any time the halls of the Junior College may be found teeming with at least a few students and more often with many students. A favorite gathering spot is the main bulletin board located in front of the Main Office and it offers to any visitor a general picture of what may be found often on our campus . . . news, announcements, people, and conversation. On the following pages will be found individual pictures of every person in school, truly representative pages for future reference. As the picture above typifies the halls, the following pictures present a lasting record of those in attendance at the Junior College during the school year 1939 and '40.

The Battery

THE BATTERY, official publication of the Salinas Junior College, was published every Friday of the school year by the Associated Students of SJC, under the editorship of Jerry Mullen, who was ably assisted by Dick Barkle and Joan Woodward

In addition to the usual run of campus activities news, many articles on contemporary world affairs were featured each week. Special six-page editions were issued on strategic dates throughout the year; pictures and cartoons were frequently offered, and all contributions were eagerly welcomed. Sports events, concerts and operas were given unusual prominence, as were administration releases, traditional holiday celebrations and the many social activities.

The entire staff of the BATTERY included:

EDITOR—Jerry Mullen.

ASST. EDITOR—Dick Barkle.

SECOND ASST. EDITOR—Joan Woodward.

BUSINESS MANAGER—Pat Stripp.

Staff Photographer—Walter Cockroft.

Men's Club

The first big day on the Men's Club calendar included the Field Day, Whiskerino, and the Men's Club supper, all held on November 10th The Men's Club Supper was given in the boys' gymnasium and was prepared under the direction of Hughes Andrus. Entertainment was provided by Ernestine Morehead and the Barbershop Quartette, accompanied by Jack Nelson's Orchestra. Dick Carlisle acted as master of ceremonies, and Clyde Redner supervised the rapid clean-up of the gym for the dance that followed.

Anniversary Day, March 29, was also under the direction of the Men's Club. The ceremony was followed by a dance given in the gym under the direction of Edward Wesley and the evening featured the invitational boxing tournament under the chairmanship of Cecil Lacy.

Westminster

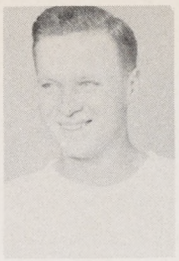

A club open-minded to all religious questions and philosophies was the Westminster Club, for Buddhists, Protestants, and Catholics were all represented. At each meeting an outstanding member of each church was chosen to speak. Outstanding speakers of the year have been Reverend Elwood Hunter from a church in Pacific Grove; an Episcopalian minister; Reverend Kemper, from the Presbyterian Church in Salinas, and Mr. Addison. The women of the Presbyterian Church served refreshments at the end of each meeting. Miss Fraser was the faculty advisor of the group.

Art Club

"Get Acquainted" was the theme of the pot-luck supper held in the Art room at the beginning of the year, with Rita Del Piero as the committee chairman. In the spring of the year two dinners were held at the homes of Gus Whitaker and Jane Dubendorf.

The big project of the Art Club was the Dada Masquerade Ball in the men's gym on May 24th. The general chairman was Gus Whitaker; the financial chairman was Ida Raye Graham; publicity chairman was Rita Del Piero; refreshment chairman was Mel Stromberg, and the clean-up chairman was Fred Kostaras.

During the year the club sponsored a series of exhibitions from the San Francisco Museum of Art, Chouinard Institute of Art, and an exhibition of water colors by J Haley Cox.

Rainbow Club

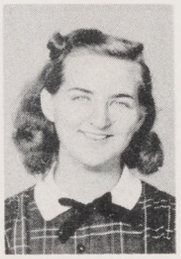

Gobblins, black cats, witches, and spooks were the theme of the dance that started off the year for the Rainbow Girls. Ann Phillips was chairman of this successful Halloween dance, which was given in the men's gym on October 31.

A breakfast was given for the newly installed officers at the Coffee Shop with Margaret Hunsucker and Helen Bidleman acting as co-chairmen.

A dance for the members and their guests was given at the Scout Hall on April 6. Eva Mixson was general chairman for the affair.

At the Grand Assembly held in Pasadena two of the members were made officers of the State Assembly. Phyllis Gwynn was appointed Grand Representative to the State of Montana, and Ayleen Dyke was made the Grand Representative to the State of Illinois.

Junior Toastmasters

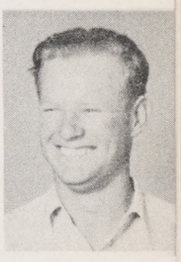

The major activities of the Junior Toastmasters for the year were the holding of weekly meetings throughout the year, with short talks given by visiting men from the Senior Toastmasters of Salinas. An invitation was extended by the senior group to have one student attend each of their regular Wednesday meetings. Advantage was taken of this on several occasions.

A Charter Night celebration and banquet was given on May 13, the anniversary of the presentation of the charter to the Junior College chapter in 1938. Members of the senior group were invited to this important meeting.

Soroptimists

Using the slogan, "the early bird catches the worm," the Junior Soroptimists started the year as a breakfast club. The meetings were held every other week in the coffee shop.

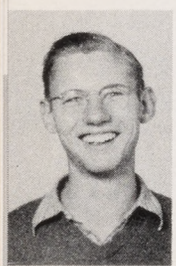

A candied apple sale was held to raise money in order to buy furniture for the girls' room. After completely furnishing the room with new screens, tables and chairs, the members took the responsibility of keeping it in order.

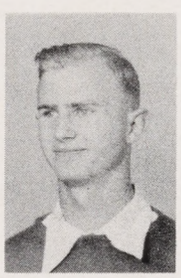

At each meeting a business woman chosen from the Senior Soroptimist Club spoke. Principle speakers were Dorothy Wood, who spoke about the Credit Bureau and how to keep out of debt; Dr. Braginton, who spoke on the profession of medicine; Blanche Lisk, who gave a very interesting talk on hats; Georgia Farmer, who related her many experiences as hostess at Hotel Del Monte; Mae Reidy, who spoke about her dress shop and the art of salesmanship, and Mrs. Winham, who told about her beauty salon.

A luncheon was given at the Hotel Cominos with the Senior Soroptimist members. During the luncheon, installation of the junior officers was held. Anne Matiasievich was master of ceremonies, and Norma Nason was general chairman. A program was presented under the direction of Margaret Hunsuker.

During the year five birthday parties were held with a large birthday cake being the center of attraction at each.

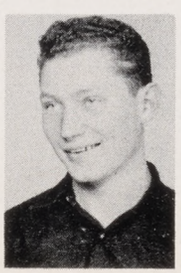

During the year the girls had as their guests, Mrs Mae Overhouse, Mrs. Werner and Myrtle Wells.

Jr. Chamber of Commerce

The Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized to help bring about civic improvement. The members of the Junior College Chamber work with the city's downtown chamber.

The main project of the Junior Chamber for the year is to plan, prepare and make the Chamber of Commerce booth for the Monterey County Fair which is held in August. This year it is to be a civic improvement project.

The standing committees for the year are: Airport, Charles Patterson; Conservation, Charles Steffan; Military Affairs, Don Duerr; Agriculture, Harold Oberg; Labor Relations, Tom Ferron; and Sanitation, Fred Joyce.

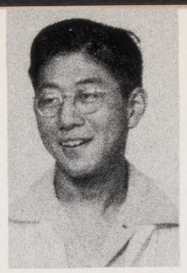

Japanese Club

The Japanese Club had a very active social year. They started by attending the College-Advance at San Jose, where they met with other Japanese students in the state. The representatives from Salinas Junior College were Lillie Kita, Jean Kawomoto, Shiro Takeshita, Lloyd Onoye, Yiyoshi Abe, Perry Mori, and Toshio Enokia.

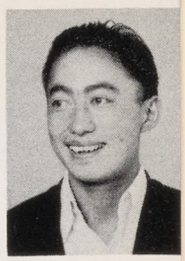

On April 26 a picnic was held at Palm Beach in Watsonville, with Mae Nagano acting as chairman of the day.

The Monterey Rollerdrome was buzzing with excitement the night of the annual skating party. Prizes were given to the best skater of the evening. Alice Matsushita was general chairman of the party.

The big event of the year was the dance given at the Women's Civic Club House on June 7th. Co-chairmen for the affair were Alice Matsushita and Perry Mori. Lloyd Onoye took all the honors of the evening as master of ceremonies.

Ski Club

One of the most enthusiastic groups in Junior College this year was the Ski Club. The group made their first trip of the year to Pine Crest, the second to Yosemite, and the third was a meet at Sisco. At the Donner Summit meet the Salinas Jaysee Ski club team defeated the San Francisco team 198 points to 270 points. Art Meese won the cross country meet with Robert Stuck, Marlen Dimick, and Charles Richardson placing. Robert Stuck won the downhill course race with David Gibbs and Charles Richardson placing In the slalom, David Gibbs ran first, defeating several San Francisco members. The year was ended by a barbecue given in Salinas.

Neuman Club

A club organized for the first time this year was the Neuman club which had as its purpose the furtherance of social, educational, and religious interests of the Catholic students of the school. The first meeting was a social meeting under the general chairmanship of Tom Lenhart with entertainment provided by the music department. At later meetings plans were made for a group of J. C. boys to attend a Retreat in the Santa Cruz mountains as soon as school ended, and Margaret Hartigan and Dorothy Allaire were selected to be the club's representatives to a Catholic convention in the south. Father McGinley is chaplain for the group and Mr. Murrin is the faculty advisor.

A Cappella

An enthusiastic, active musical organization was that of the A Capella under the direction of Miss Lowe. Besides several local club engagements the group traveled to other vicinities to display their talents. On April 20 they performed at the Coast Counties Musical Festival in Pacific Grove, and a part of their program was broadcast over radio station KDON. On Mondy, May 6 the group participated in the Northern California Junior College Choral Festival at the College of Pacific in Stockton. The day's activities included, besides singing, swimming, a dinner, and dancing in the evening. Perhaps the most important and most successful of all appearances was that in the opera "Firefly." The A Capella choir sang the parts of the chorus in this production. The members are as follows: James Meagher, Paul Walker, Galyn Hammond, Bob Jensen, Don Stewart, Ardene Eckford, Lillian Wurts, Don Seely, John Shepherd, Evelyn Heinsen Hilda Millan, Dorothea Zimmerman, Bill Law, Charles Head, Barbara Greenlaw, Maria Bogiala, June Silliman, Gail Johnson, Ayleen Dyche, Kathryn McCray, Muriel Smith, Eugenia Goerling, Kazuo Ikeda, Joe Walker, Bruce Barker, Elyse Bartenstein, Marion Carter, Iris Miller, Phyllis Foster, Ruth Marcus, Dorothy Filice, Ruth Robinson, Mike Mapa, Vernal Gilbert, Joe Maddalena, Neal Harper, Jack Works, Evelyn Tholcke, Mary Shively, Dorothy Allaire, Meredith Crosslin Charles Hamm, Margaret Hartigan, Dorothy Howell, Wallace Hutton, Pat Sullivan, Bob Stephens.

Violin Choir

A very active and popular unit in musical groups was the Violin Choir. In October they performed for the Civic Club; in December appeared before the Upsilon Gamma Chi's during their Christmas party; played at Father Bandini's lecture on Dante's Divine Comedy on April 11, and also at many service club luncheons downtown. At the Third Annual Concert they featured a composition for clarinet and violins by Phil Knocke. The choir consisted of Robert Jensen, Evelyn Tholcke, Eugenia Goerling, Marie Haver, Angela Morasca, Marion Carter, and Elyse Bartenstein.

Woodwind Ensemble

Filling an important niche in musical organization, the Woodwind Ensemble studied from fine trios, quartettes, sextettes, and other types of compositions of representative composers. Some of their many engagements included playing a concert in the Little Theater on October 24, for the Gonzales High School, Soledad High School, Soledad Rotary Club, Salinas Kiwanis Club, and the Music Festival at Pacific Grove on April 20. The Ensemble consisted of clarinets, Phil Kuocke, Duran Hernandes, Marjorie Lewis, Carmen Felice, and Charles Hamm; obe, Leland Lincoln; bassoon, Don Mills; and French horn, John Keahey.

Trombone Quintet

Because of its unusual type of musical organization and ability, the Trombone Quintet was in demand for many occasions. Their performances included an assembly on September 8, a banquet on October 27, a concert in the Little Theater, and a concert for Santa Cruz and King City High Schools. Performances for such service clubs as the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. Members of the Trombone Quintet include John Burchett, Arthur Kerner, John Shepherd, Don Stewart, and Don Nerell.

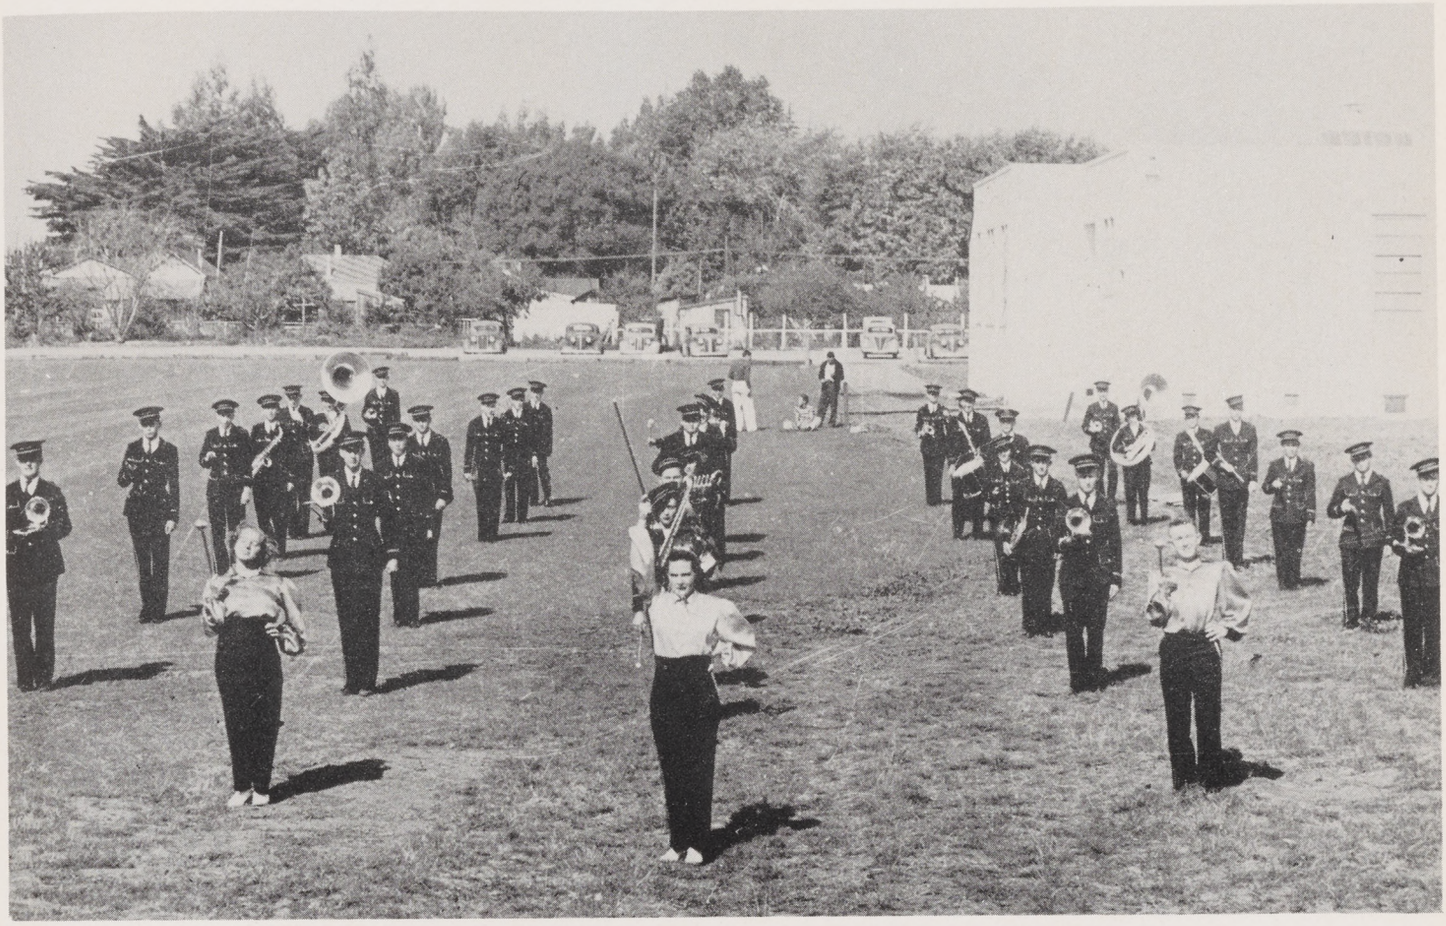

Symphony Orchestra

An active season educationally was that of the symphony orchestra this year. It gave outstanding musical support to the presentation of "Firefly" and scored a hit in the Third Annual Concert by presenting Mozart's Jupiter Symphony, the Bacchanale from Samson and Delilah, and other outstanding works

Many members of the orchestra have been active participants in festivals and other such performances The following students played in the Coast Counties Symphony Orchestra in Pacific Grove on April 20: Duran Hernandez, Eb clarinet; Irvin Hall and Fred Kimzey, flutes; Leland Lincoln, obe; Eugene Cava, French horn; Don Stewart, John Shepherd, John Burchett, trombones. During the broadcast of this Coast Counties Orchestra the clarinet trio played several selections, and an ensemble under the direction of John Shepherd played "Prelude to the Sunset" an original composition by Shepherd.

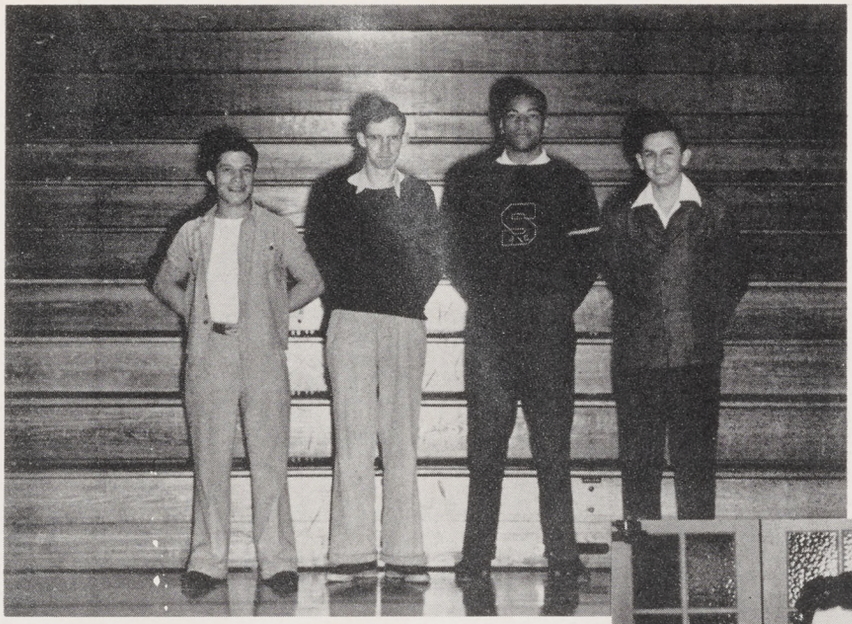

Participating in the National Symphony Orchestra in Los Angeles at the Shrine Auditorium under the direction of Francis Findley, a music director from Boston, were the followng students: Evelyn Tholcke, Marie Haver, Angela Morasca, violins; Leland Lincoln, oboe; Don Mills, bassoon, Marjorie Lewis, viola

The members of the orchestra are as follows: Alva Andrus, Bob Bello, Eugene Cava, Charles Giles, Eugenia Goerling, Charles Hamm, Irvin Hall, Marie Haver, Galyn Hammond, Gerry Heinrich, Duran Hernandez, Bob Jensen, John Keahey, Joe Knowles, Marjorie Lewis, Leland Lincoln, Iris Miller, Don Mills, Angela Morasca, Jean Slater, Ed Wesley, Marion Carter, Phil Knoche, John Shepherd, and Don Stewart.

The Marching Band

Under the command of the majorettes, Iris Miller and Kay Hamm, and Drum Major Don Mills, the band contributed "vim and vigor" to rallies and enlivened six football games. Their outstanding performance was the Armistice Day parade followed by maneuvers at the Santa Rosa game. The forty-seven piece band represents fourteen towns and included the following people: trumpets, Alva Andrus, Ray Brown, Edward Freitas, Irvin Hall, Wallace Hutton, Galyn Hammond, Jean Kelley, and Jack Nelson; clarinets, Ed Rutherford, Earl McDaniels, Joseph Knowles, Duran Hernandez, Marjorie Lewis, Charles Hamm, Dick Goldsworthy, and Evelyn Colburn; trombones, Art Kerner, Donald Stewart, John Shepherd, and Don Nerell; saxophones, Dolores Burch, Edgar Leslie and Harvey Harris; French horns, Eddie Tonini and Kathryn McCray; basses, Raenelle Wells and Joe Cota; baritones, Donald Duerr; Piccalo, Arthur Hannon and Dick Pennycook; flue, Fred Kimzey, and cymbal, Arthur Langdon.

Men's Quartet

Another very active and talented musical group was the Men's Quartet. Participating in many musical programs throughout the surrounding area, they provided entertainment for many music-loving gatherings. Among the many places included in their program schedule were the Tuberculosis Association dinner at the Jeffrey Hotel, the Men's Club supper, an evening performance at King City, the Monterey High School, a non-partisan dinner at the Cominos Hotel and several student body assemblies. The four men students who composed the group were James Meagher, bass; Roger Romine, baritone; Michael Mapa, second tenor, and Jack Works, first tenor. The baritone during the first semester was Bob Jensen.

Assembly in the Little Theater

Our year has been as full of activity as our school is of students. The Freshman reception marked the opening of numerous social events such as the rallies, football games, dances, and the Winter Ball. The Ribbonero and the Whiskerino were brought to a close with the judging at the Men's Club supper after an afternoon spent at tug of war, mud-fights and races.

During the year the dramatics classes presented several one-act plays in the Little Theater and away from school the La Reata Skates contributed to the enjoyment of the students.

Christmas Party

The Women's organization, Upsilon Gamma Chi, celebrated the Yuletide with a party held December 12 in the school library. Invited were all women students, faculty wives, women instructors, and Santa Claus, alias Dick Carlisle.

The library was decorated with a Christmas tree and signs wishing everyone "Merry Christmas." The party consisted of a program, carols, and presents in the form of stockings filled with popcorn and candy-cane. During the program Virginia Kirby danced; Evelyn Bilechi and Marie Heer gave a dialogue entitled "Hitch-hiking Ain't No Fun"; Dorothy Howell accompanied Ernestine Morehead in "O Holy Night." Also the String Ensemble gave several selections.

General chairman for the affair under President Ann Matiasivich was Betty Humphries; chairman of decorations, Jayne Miyake and Margaret Fernie; refreshments, Olive Barling; and program, Ann Phillips.

Light Opera

"The Firefly" is one of the best-known and most popular light operas that have been composed and presented in our times. Since 1912, when it was first presented to the general public, it has continued to hold the interest and liking of music-loving audiences all over the world.

Nina, a New York street singer, is the main character of the opera. The plot is based on her adventures in Bermuda after her masquerading as a boy in order to go on a vacation trip with a party of wealthy socialites. The complications caused by this deception are continued throughout the movement of the opera until Nina's ruse is discovered.

The part of Nina was taken by Muriel Smith, and Vernal Gilbert sang opposite her as Jack Travers. Ernestine Morehead was seen in the role of Geraldine Van Dare, a young and temperamental girl, and Mike Mapa played the part of John Thurston who had a way with the women. Richard Hambey played the old German choirmaster, "Herr Franz"; Bob McMenamin appeared as the English secretary "Jenkins"; Lucia Mumford played "Mrs. Van Dare," a wealthy widow; Margaret Fernie appeared as the flirtatious French maid, "Suzette," and Bill Adams played "Pietro," Thurston's Italian valet. Others who had smaller parts were Ruth Marcus as "Sybil Van Dare", Margaret Hartigan as "Antonio Columbo", June Silliman as the flower vender, Richard Barkle as "Corelli", Bill Willson as a captain, and Eugene Weeks as a policeman.

Light Opera

"The Firefly" was performed on February 16 and 17 and was highly successful both nights. General Director Miss Gertrude Lowe was ably assisted during the months of preparation by Miss Faith Fraser and Mr. Lorell McCann. Others who helped with the production were Miss Frieda Hutchinson, Gus Whitaker, Mrs. Hope Baxter, Ernestine Morehead, Mrs. C. H. Lee, Mrs. Neil Bundgard, Jack Works, Mr. Lloyd Winter, Cecil Newkirk, Mr. Earl Sauble, Joe Maddalena, and members of the Junior Soroptimist Club.

A special orchestra, formed to play for the operetta, was under the direction of Mr. McCann. Included in this orchestra were: violins, Evelyn Tholcke, Eugenia Goerling, Marie Haver, Angela Morasca, Jean Slater, and Edward Wesley; viola, Marjorie Lewis; bass viol, Charles Giles; flutes, Irvin Hall and Fred Kimzey; oboe, Leland Lincoln; bassoon, Don Mills; clarinets, Phil Knoche, Duran Hernandez and Joseph Knowles; trumpet, Alva Andrus; French horn, Eugene Cava and John Keahey; trombone, Don Stewart; drums, Bob Bello; piano, Gerry Heinrich and Dorothy Howell.

Whiskerino

For three weeks, beginning late in the month of October and lasting until the final Field Day event has become merely another item in the long history of successful J. C. festivals, all male students must abandon their razors. For at this time the famous Whiskerino contest holds full sway. Every man on the campus must participate by growing a beard during the three week period, and will be punished by being tossed in a mud hole if he does not participate, or he may be sprinkled with perfume in the case that he is unable to grow a beard. This year the Men's Club, under advisor Louis Eris, again sponsored the contest, but all "law enforcing" duties were handed over to the Block S Society, which supervised the punishments. Prizes were awarded at the Men's Club supper for the blackest, longest, reddest, and mangiest beards, as well as the best all-around whiskers. There was also a much-sought-after consolation prize, for no beard at all.

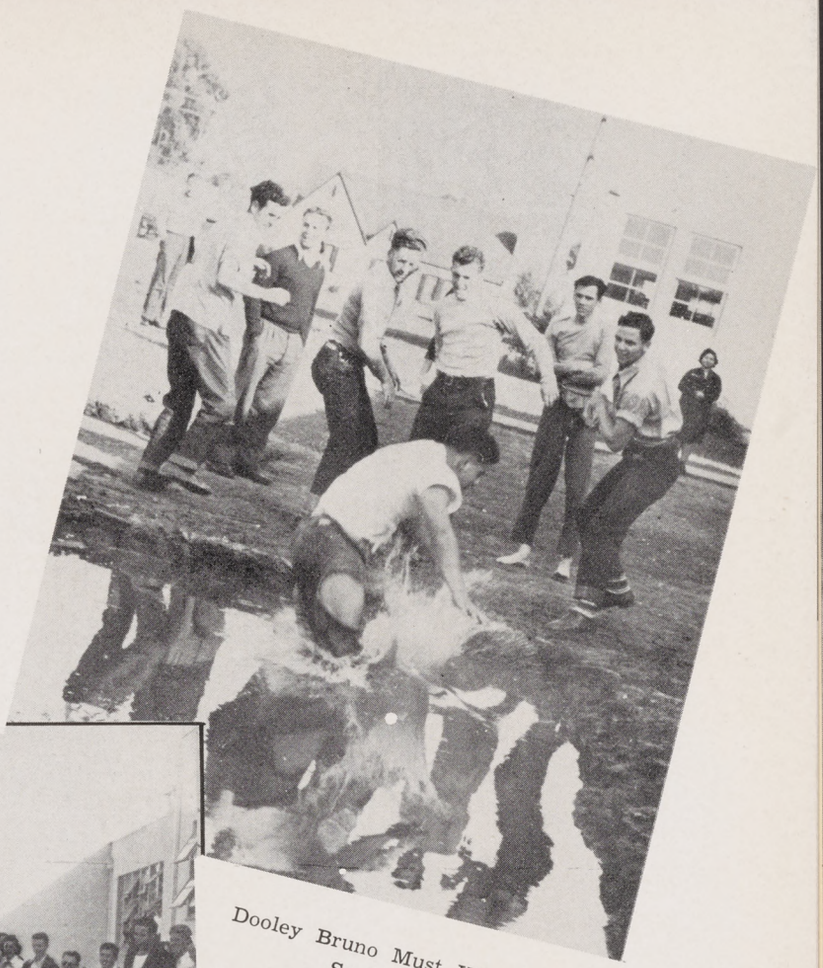

Everyone enjoys the ducking except the "Duckee"

Mudhole Fun

As part of the Whiskerino activities, a huge hole was dug on the campus by members of the freshman class. This mud hole awaited all men who dared to break the Whiskerino "law" by shaving during the forbidden period.

This year's Whiskerino contest was characterized by a long series of duckings, each one being heralded by the ringing of cowbells. Whiskerino officers held a close-inspection tour every day, apparently seeking out those men who were suspiciously lacking in fuzz.

Field Day

Climax to the whiskerino and ribbonero contests is Field Day, when the J. C. men—now sporting three week growths of beards, give the honored girls, as well as themselves "the times of their lives."

The series of events is presented by committees from the Men's Club, who organize teams of both Freshman and Sophomores to participate in the many contests which make up a large portion of the day's activities, to decide the supremacy of one.

This year, the Sophomore class won over the Freshman class in a close score of 65 to 55.

Events which were featured during the day included wheelbarrow racing, boxing, wrestling, sack racing, pole climbing, and, of course, that ever-popular, red-blooded American battle—the tug o' war. The point of combat for the latter was the mud hole.

Men's Club Supper

When the great Field Day activities at last come to a close with sundown, it is the custom for all students and members of the faculty to join one another at the Men's Club supper. This year the supper was held in the big, new men's gymnasium and was attended by more than 500 "Jayseers."

Held annually, in the honor of J. C. women, the supper is presented entirely through the cooperation of various committees of the Men's Club. Hughes Andrus was general chairman of the affair, assisted by Glenn Howland as chairman of the cooking committee, Dick Carlisle, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Clyde Redner, chairman of table arrangements.

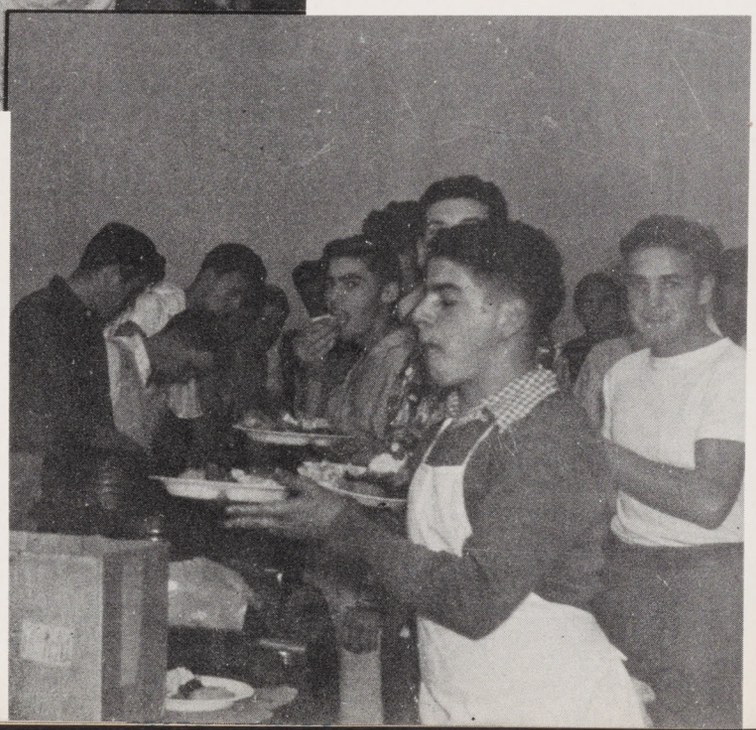

During the supper, students and teachers were entertained by the music of Jack Nelson's orchestra and by the singing of Ernestine Morehead and the men's quartet.

Whiskerino Ribbonero Pajamerino

At a time when glamour is forgotten, it is appropriate to climax the gaiety of the Whiskerino and Ribbonero with an equally jolly event, the Pajamerino. For during the three week period when beards are allowed to grow and ribbons must be well in evidence, it is generally conceded that some final note of absurdity is missing. This is the signal for a great deal of preparation and work by the Freshman class with their objective the merriest of all J. C. dances, the Pajamerino.

It is a dance to which all students must come pajama-clad, and it is held on Field Day, directly following the Men's Club supper and the Pajamerino rally. The campus on the day of the big dance is dotted with pajama-clad girls, while the men students reserve their loudest and most alluring creations until the time of the supper.

One Act Plays

The first drama of the year, "Why I Am a Bachelor," by popular request returned four times and each time to a full house. The members of the cast were Richard Barkle, Glen Howland, and Marion Carter. Another play, "The Raft," with a cast including Jeane Randal and Ed Crabbe, toured the various high schools in the vicinity. "The Enemy," a play presented by the Junior College verse choir, has been requested to appear at the Golden Gate International Exposition. In addition to this honor, th choir was requested to give this presentation at four outside engagements.

Several comedies have also been included in the list of plays presented during the year for the enjoyment of the Student Body. A double-bill including "Dead Men Tell No Tales" and "Warriors Husband" was a real smash hit. The first was a comedy in which two lovers converse with two ghosts in a graveyard. The actors were Wayne Ashford, Mollie Bushki, Jean Slater and Fred Joyce. Ernestine Morehead, Dick Barkle, Glen Howland, Jayne Miyake, Mrs. Mildred Mann, Harvey Priddy and Douglas Flautt appeared in "Warriors Husband." In this latter comedy the Amazons, who were women warriors, played very masculine roles while their husbands were effeminate and tended to the house work.

"Poor Old Jim" was a one act comedy in which a doctor and the patient's wife make the patient think that he is a ghost. Playing these roles were Eugene Weeks, Marion Carter, and Mike Mapa.

"The Camberly Triangle" with Jean McTavish, Pat Sullivan, and Robert Norris tells about a young husband just back from four years at war and the method by which he wins back his wife.

Jaysee Jamboree

The football players proved their all-around abilities by participating in their own big Jaysee Jamboree. The huge audience which packed the bleachers viewede the entertainment with keen appreciation. Hot music, supermen acts, high class singing, several original skits, athletic and student awards, plus high-scale showmanship by the football team composed the merry show. Awards were presented to Andrus, Howland, Meagher, Moore, Miller, Hart, Brown, Borba, Alice Vairora, Ernestine Morehead, Ann Matiasevich, Ellen Lowell and Jean Meese, for effective participation in school activities.

EVENTS

Opening the dedicatory ceremony of the twentieth birthday of Salinas Junior College, the J. C. band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Following were brief informative talks by Charles Stefan, Dick Carlisle, John B. Lemos, President R. J. Werner, and Dr. Case, superintendant of Salinas schools.

After the dedicatory speech of Ted Spaulding, president of the student body, a single tree-planting ceremony was observed.

HISTORY

March fifteenth of this year has marked the twentieth anniversary of the founding of Salinas Junior College. When the college was moved to its new foundation on Homestead Avenue in 1937, a total of 200 and a dozen teachers were enrolled. It has proven itself to be the fastest growing Junior College in the state, for at the present time 850 are registered under a faculty of 27.

Coaches

Coach Ed Adams, director of athletics at S. J. C. seems to have a habit of coaching championship teams. During his three years at Corvallis, he coached six championship outfits, and as head coach of all sports in his first year here he coached the basketball team to second place in league standing. The next year an undefeated home football season was his record and his third year with the responsibilities in the P. E. department increasing, he relinquished the head football coaching job to Bud Winter, only to assist the new coach in bringing to Salinas the football championship.

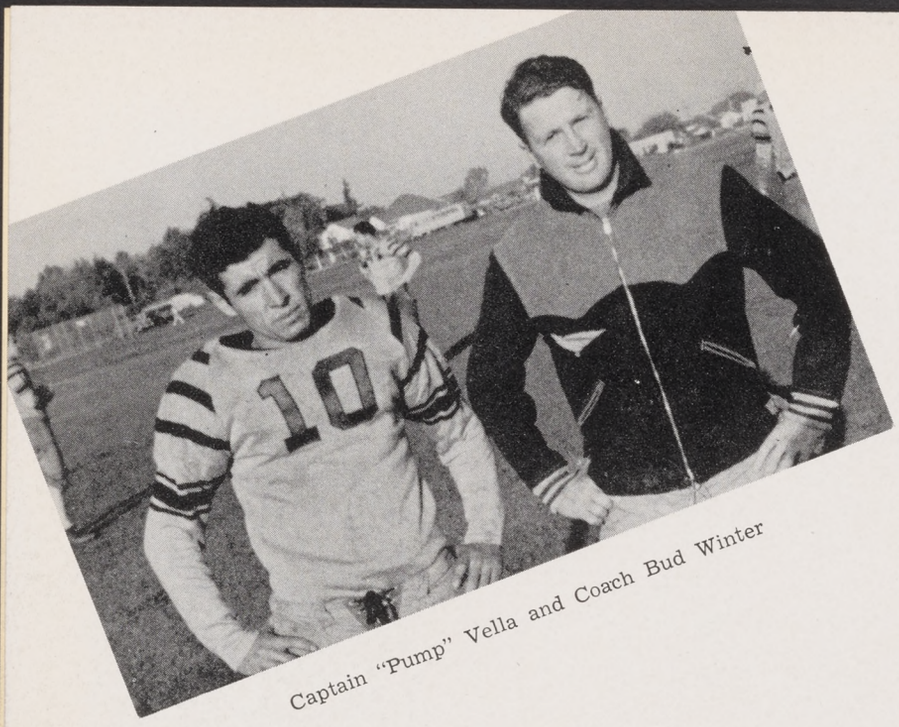

Coach Bud Winter has also developed many championship teams. During his four years at Watsonville High School, he made an excellent record both in football and track and in his first year as head coach of the Salinas J. C. football and track teams, he won the championships for both. In his experience as head football coach, no team has been able to score more than one touchdown against him in any one game. Coach Bud has made an enviable record, which will be the goal of teams in many years to come.

CAPTAIN PUMP VELLA

A sparkplug was chosen to lead the powerful 1939 championship-bound Panther football machine. Americo "Pump" Vella, fiery little left half, weighing a mere 150 pounds of grit, sinew, and football brains, was elected by his teammates to lead them through the successful 1939 football season.

A valuable player in more ways than one, Captain "Pump" would never call on his mates to do what he himself wouldn't do. Nothing pleased him more than to take the ball, head for the biggest pile-up, and emerge with blinding speed in the direction of the goal line, shaking off one tackler after another.

Awards

Don Paul, right half, received the Sproles watch for being the most valuable player of the squad, as well as being the most proficient at studies, while Burton Stokes, stellar guard, received the Perry trophy for being the most inspirational player of the year.

Practice

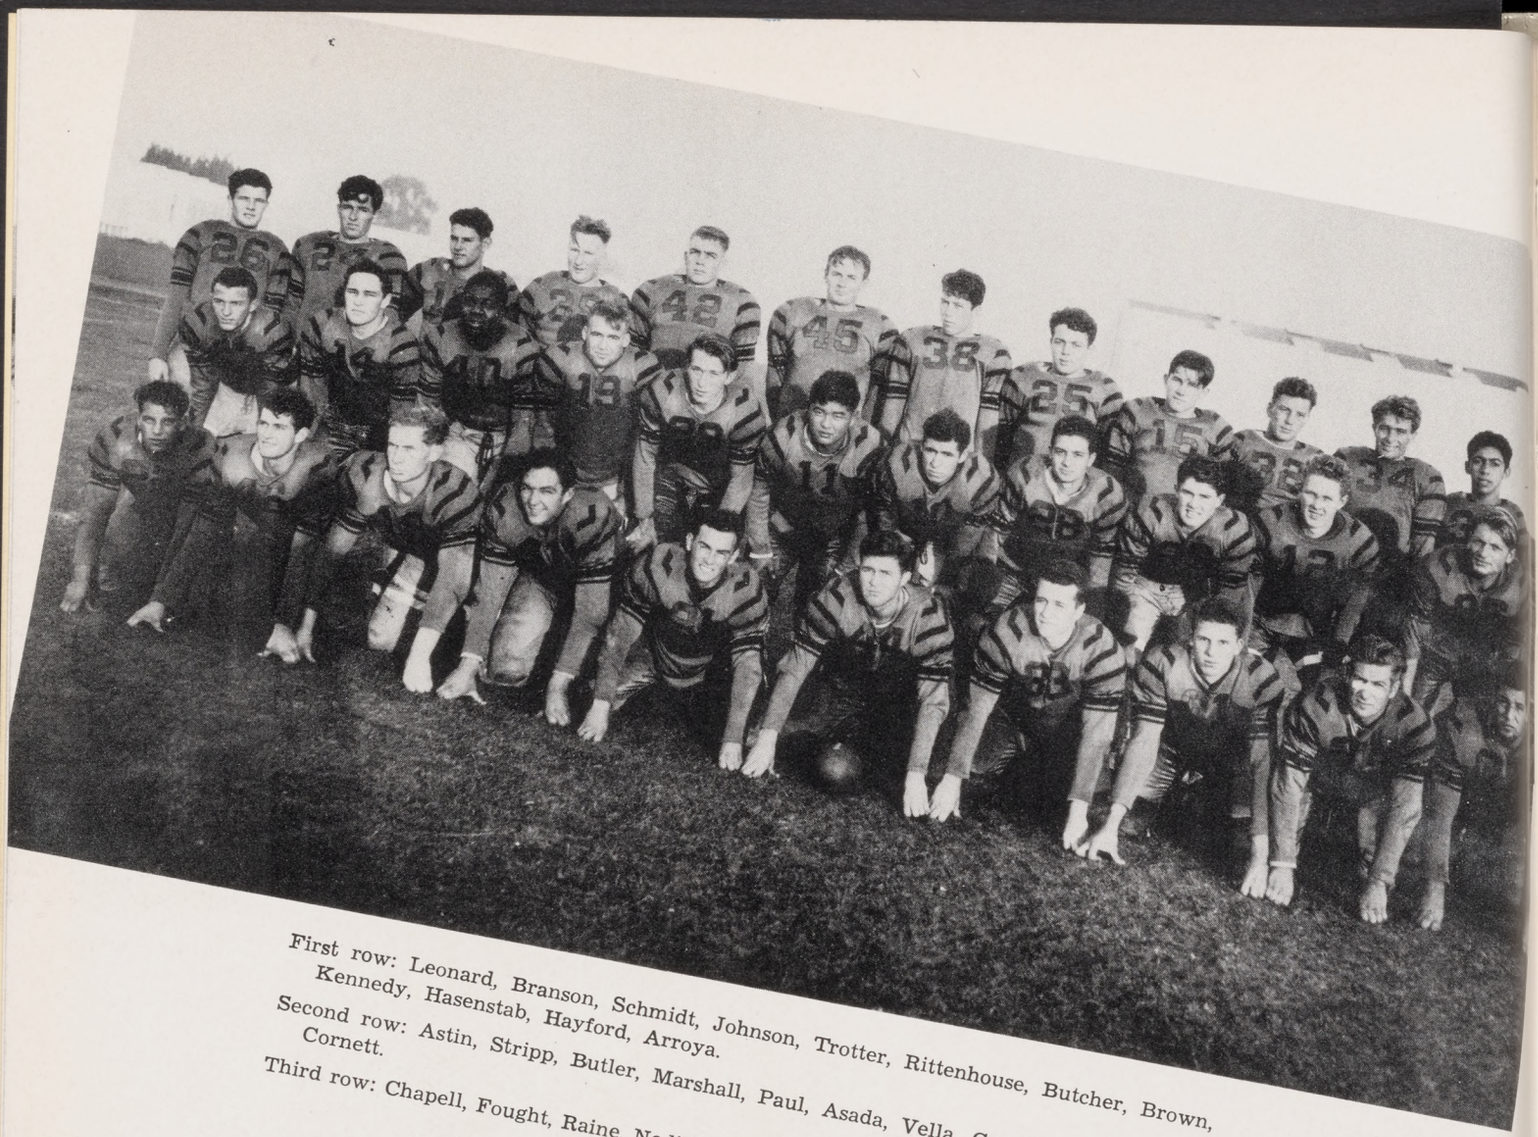

Glenn "Pop" Warner and Dud de Groot

The "Old Fox" of football, the man who originated the famous double wing formations and the tricky reverse plays, the man who has developed more star players than practically any other living coach, the man who has coached at Carlisle, Stanford, and Temple, and who has contributed more to football than any other person living or dead . . . that great man of football honored Salinas with his presence, and spoke to a really appreciative audience of J. C. football players and townspeople at a banquet at the Santa Lucia Inn.

Glen "Pop" Warner is his name. Mr. Warner related many amusing anecdotes of his former days at Carlisle, Stanford, and Temple. "Pop" stressed the fact that since he started his coaching career forty-six years ago football has been changed considerably. He also stated that instead of the strength and endurance that had to prevail during football's earliest days, modern football players are trained for speed and pep, and are taught to play as hard as they can whether it is for six or sixty minutes. He closed by wishing the J. C. football team the best of luck and a winning season.

Jovial Dud de Groot, star end under Warner during the "Old Fox's" regime at Stanford then began the talk where Mr. Warner left off. Head coach of San Jose State College's mightiest elevens and with a flair for delivering interesting talks that almost equals his ability to produce championship teams, Dud de Groot had an appreciative audience. He was clearly the most amusing speaker at the banquet, especially when he "chastised" the Salinas J. C. football team for pounding his Frosh team so hard. Coach de Groot's record as a producer of first-class football teams is one of the most amazing in the history of the sport. He brought the San Jose State Spartans up from a door-mat position to a place at the top of the ladder. Dud closed with an invitation to Salinas Jay See footballers to become his guests at some of his games at San Jose.

SALINAS 0, SANTA ROSA 0

In one of the finest football games ever seen in the Lettuce Bowl, Salinas and Santa Rosa jolted each other almost into submission, and the thrilling game ended in a scoreless tie.

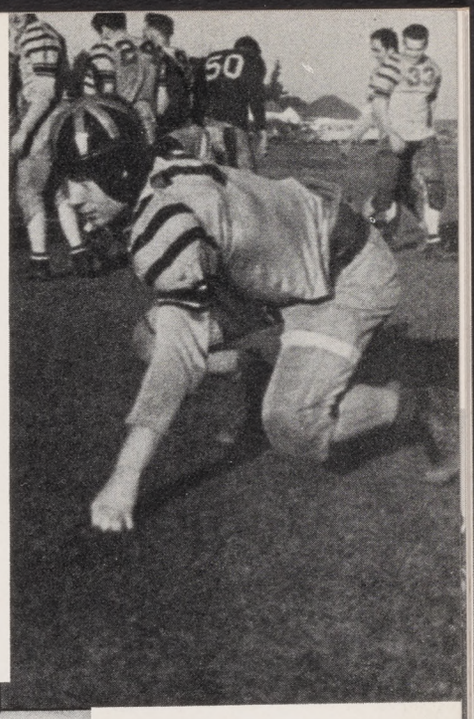

Acorne and Wilson of Santa Rosa were superb, garnering much yardage for their team; but in yardage and in number of first downs gained, the edge was in Salinas' favor, 156 yards to 131, and 9 first downs to 7. The Salinas pass defense proved itself to be on the alert by batting down 13 out of 14.

Both teams, each loaded with stars, were as nearly equal in all departments as any two teams could be. The result: a grand game.

SALINAS 6, PLACER 7

The try for point that would have tied the game was kicked "perfectly" twice, only to be nullified by the officials; thus, the Panthers went down 7-6, before a rough bunch from Placer Jaysee.

Stalked by ill-luck, the Panthers not only lost the ball game, but had seven of their men injured. Cornett passed 35 yards to Kmetovic for the Salinas touchdown.

SALINAS 24, SANTA BARBARA 0

Battering the Gaucho yearlings from Santa Barbara State in the first game of the season for both teams, the Salinas Panthers left the Lettuce Bowl with a striking 24-0 upset victory.

Captain Vella put the locals in the lead by scoring a pair of touchdowns in the first quarter. One of the prettiest plays ever seen here came on Salinas' final tally as Charley Lewis, caught a punt and traveled 73 yards to score. Right-half Johnnie Mapa, blocked three tacklers on Lewis' run, flooring the last two as they were about to nab the tiring Lewis.

SALINAS 6, SAN JOSE 6

The final score was 6-6, but if statistics give any inkling as to who had the better team, then Salinas Jaysee definitely outclassed the Spartan Frosh from San Jose State in a game that saw the Panthers driving their opponents all over the field, outgaining their foes 330 yards to 78, and piling up 10 first downs to one for San Jose.

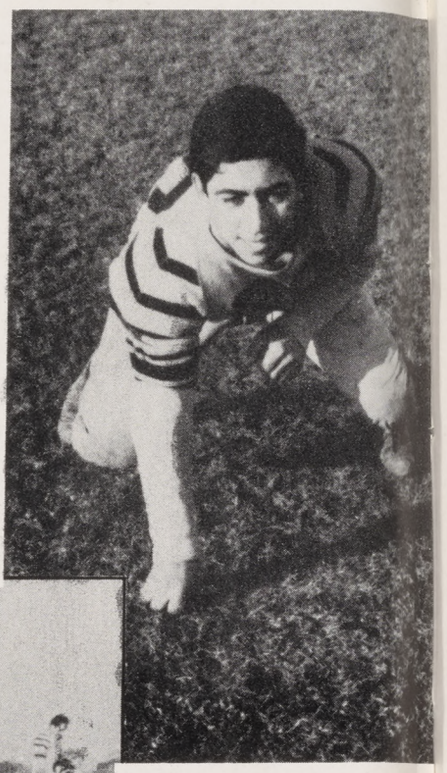

Salinas' touchdown was made by left-half Charley Lewis pitching one to end Therman Fought, who made the goal.

Panthers

SALINAS 6, MENLO 3

Menlo Junior College, boasting of a line averaging 190 pounds and powered with high-caliber men throughout its team, met a somewhat crippled Panther eleven in the Lettuce Bowl on Armistice Day to the tune of a 6-3 victory.

Basketball

Basketball for Salinas started off very successfully with a long trail of victories that began turning into defeats as the season neared its end.

Although they placed seventh in the Northern California J. C. conference circuit of ten teams, the Maroon and Gold quintet finished above the halfway mark for the entire season. They finished with 20 wins out of 30 games played for a seasonal percentage of .571. In conference play, which saw Modesto winning the championship, Salinas lost nine of the twelve games played

Salinas had one of the busiest basketball seasons they ever engaged in, playing games against the finest commercial and junior colleges available. The Panthers won fourteen consecutive tilts before they met defeat at the hands of Pasadena Junior College on their southern California barnstorming tour. On this tour the Panthers chalked up victories over Santa Ana and San Luis Obispo Junior Colleges. Victories were turned in over the strongest teams of the neighboring cities and over Reedley, Porterville, and Menlo Junior Colleges in the Salinas Invitational Tournament.

After the barnstorming trip Salinas entered the Modesto Invitational tournament and broke even, winning from Stockton and Glendale, and losing to Compton and Sacramento, two of the fastest quintets in the state.

Salinas opened their '40 conference season when they knocked over San Mateo in the new gymnasium. The game was easily the Panthers from start to finish. The conference game with San Francisco proved to be another thriller, the Rams winning after two overtime periods were played. Following this Ram defeat the Panthers dropped five straight games to Marin, Santa Rosa, Sacramento, and two to Menlo, before they hit the win column again with a victory over Marin. Again the Bear-Cubs from Santa Rosa defeated Salinas, as did Placer. Salinas' final contest was won from Yuba Junior College.

J. C. Invitational Meet

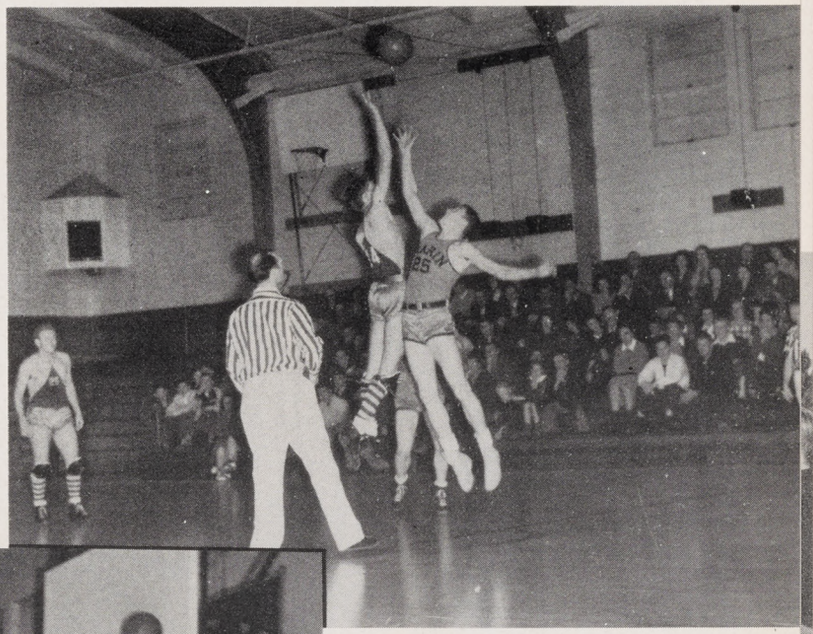

Salinas started off a good habit of winning their own invitational tournaments by taking the Invitational Basketball Tournament held December 15 and 16 in the new gymnasium. Teams that represented almost every sector of the state were entered, and some very strong and worthy contingents treked to our fair city to engage in the tourney. Six teams came and two teams, Menlo and Salinas, reached the playoffs for the championship.

Salinas emerged the victor after one of the most exciting and thrilling exhibitions of basketball ever to be witnessed on the Salinas court was put on. Two overtime periods were called, the final score resting 33 to 30. Menlo brought to Salinas a fast and powerful team led by all-conference players Lathos and Needham.

Favorites to win the tournament, judging from returning veterans, size, experience, and previous records, were Menlo, Porterville and our own Salinas. All three of these schools leaped their first hurdle successfully, Menlo winning from Coalinga; Porterville drubbing San Luis Obispo; and Salinas overcoming Reedley late in the ball game to win 29 to 22. In the semi-finals the Panthers easily swept aside the supposedly strong Porterville outfit, 36 to 12.

Tennis

The schedule for the most successful tennis season was very extensive, including practice games with San Mateo J. C., University of Santa Clara, Stanford Frosh, San Jose State Frosh, Santa Cruz, and Salinas club teams. Conference matches favored the Panthers in every meet except when San Francisco Jaysee nosed us out 4 to 3, and the match with San Mateo ended 3 all on account of darkness.

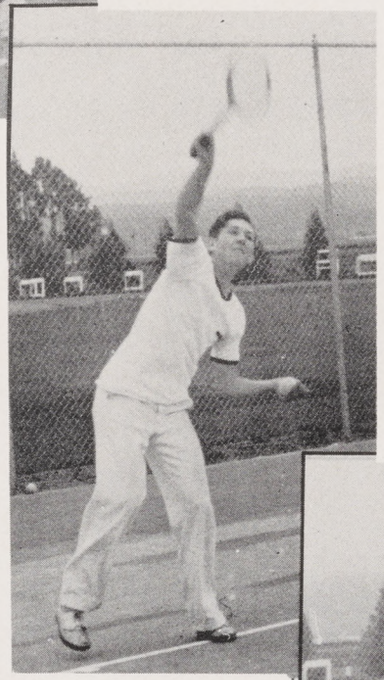

Four clean sweeps were taken by the Panthers when they blanked Modesto, Santa Rosa, Marin, and Yuba Junior Colleges 7 to 0. Salinas won from Yuba on a forfeit. Winning game scores of 5 to 2 were taken from Menlo and Sacramento.

Salinas came out on top in the conference ratings.

Track

Represented by one of the strongest track teams in the history of the school, Salinas Junior College swept throrugh its most successful season, breaking records and heaping added laurels to its collection, besides keeping its undefeated dual meet record intact.

This year the team has been led by the consistent running ability of Harold Davis, sensational sprinter, who has toured the 100 and 220 in record-setting times of 9.6 and 20.16. Davis started the season by winning the PAA Finnish Relief Indoor Track Meet 50 yard dash in 5.4.

Pressing Davis for jaysee distinction was Benny Robinson, minute colored star, who did an iron man's chore in the pole vault, high jump, and javelin. Robinson was elected captain of the squad.

HOCKEY

The hockey games, played ninth period, were the first intramural games of the school year. Considering this and the problem of ninth period classes, a fair number of girls came out for this sport. These games were played early in the fall semester. The Sophomores, led by their captain, Ruth Connell, emerged victorious with two wins over the Freshmen, who had one win. The Junior College yell leader, Barbara Ansell, was the able captain of the unfortunate Freshmen. The teams were very well matched, a fact that can be readily seen in that three games resulted in ties. However, there were no major casualties recorded during the season—a good record, as hockey is a dangerous and fast moving game of skill and sportsmanship.

TAP DANCING

Despite the fact that the twenty-five girls who enrolled in the clogging class were all beginners, they have made much more progress with their dancing than can be imagined.

Coeds who formerly knew nothing of the tap dance, are now able to break out into a soft shoe or buck rhythm at the least impulse.

They find a great deal of enjoyment in the character dances, and the better waltzers had much opportunity to star in the specialty waltz numbers.

The best example of the progress of this class is the performance of the girls who clogged for the student body meeting in May.

MODERN DANCING

A great part of the grace recently acquired by the coeds in our school should be attributed to the modern dancing class.

This class is about the most popular in school, as can well be seen by the large enrollment. In addition to exercises which tend to limber and develop a better and more muscular body, interpretive dancing is a part of this course. As the girls become acquainted with the steps, they are allowed to compose their own dances. Some of these have shown considerable promise.

The classes, of which there are two, worked on dances depicting approaches to a final. One was of the despairing type who doesn't care one way or another, while the other drew the picture of the fluttering type who appears on the scene of the final in the midst of last minute notes, pencils, erasers, etc. The affects brought about by these two dances show what can be done in this sort of work.

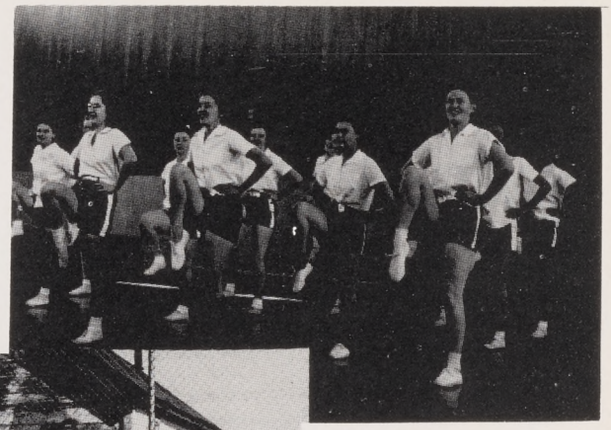

Women's Sports

POSTURE

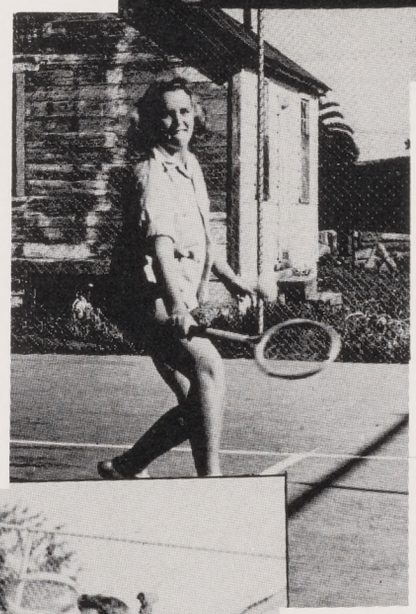

Because of the low enrollment of twenty, the posture class was able to accomplish more than its purpose.

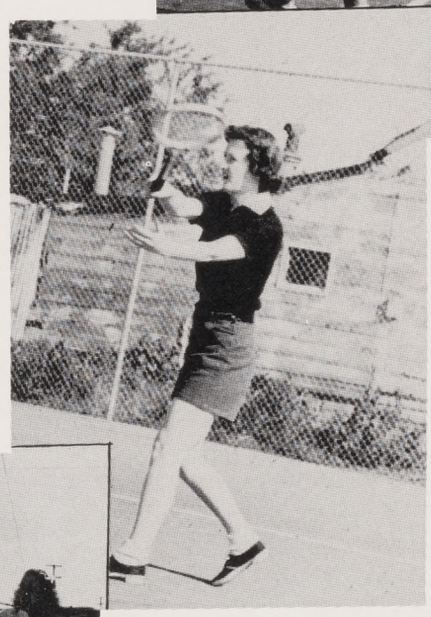

The girls included exercises for different sections of the body and analyzation of their good or bad effects in routine work.

TENNIS

Perhaps ranked the most popular outdoor sport by the women of Salinas Junior College is tennis. A tennis tournament was held in the fall for the women. Fourteen of the better players took part in this tournament. Athletic March Kong led the girls in this competition, and Alma Stevensen followed in second place. This tournament proved to be so popular that another, in which twenty-five girls turned out, was held in May under the management of Louie Strother.

ARCHERY

During the first and fourth semesters, archery is offered to the women.

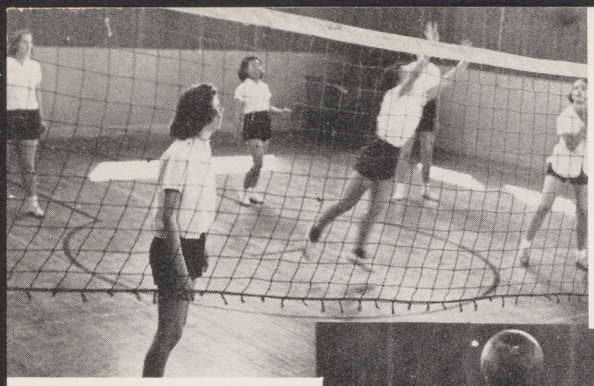

This semester there were quite a few promising Freshmen archers. Eight archers entered the inter-collegiate Archery meet, sponsored by the San Francisco Junior College this spring. Another popular meet for the women is one in which the shooting is done in Salinas and the scores are sent to San Francisco.

The Junior Columbia Rounds and the Columbia Rounds however, are the most important, and much excitement was caused over them.

Women's Sports

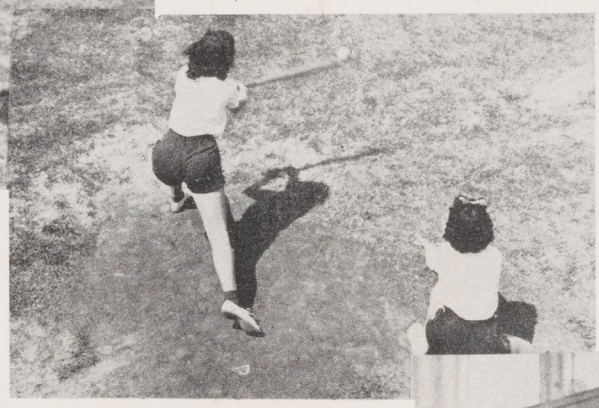

VOLLEY BALL

A larger turnout than was expected marked the beginning of the volleyball tournament, due, perhaps, to the passing of a semester and the fact that more girls became acquainted with the advantages and all around good fun of the ninth period sports for girls. Eight games were played. The Sophomores were victors over the Freshmen with six wins to the Freshmen's two. Marge Easton and Kay Hamm were the Sophomore and Freshmen captains respectively.

SOFTBALL

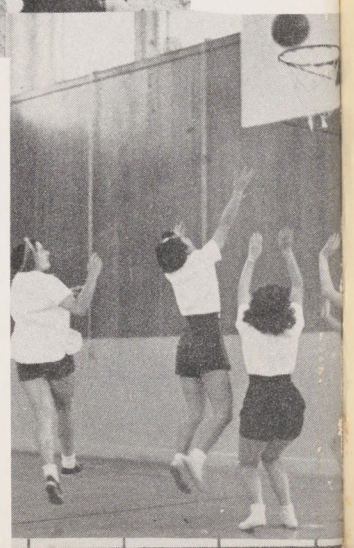

Next, claiming the women's sports lime-light was softball. Jean McTavish undertook the job of managing the contests; Margaret Ann Smith captained the Sophomore team and Louie Strothers led her Frosh nine. All the games between the two teams were played during ninth period.

BASKETBALL

Kay Hamm managed the basketball games which were held on Tuesdays and Thursdays ninth period. The tournament was made up of three fast-moving teams. Team II of the Freshman division, captained by Jean McTavish, came out on top. Runner up and one game behind was Doris Chavoy's Sophomore squad. One game in arears of the runner-up was the Freshman Team I led by Margaret Hartigan. The close of the season was celebrated by a luncheon, with the two loosing teams as hostesses.

Cowgirls

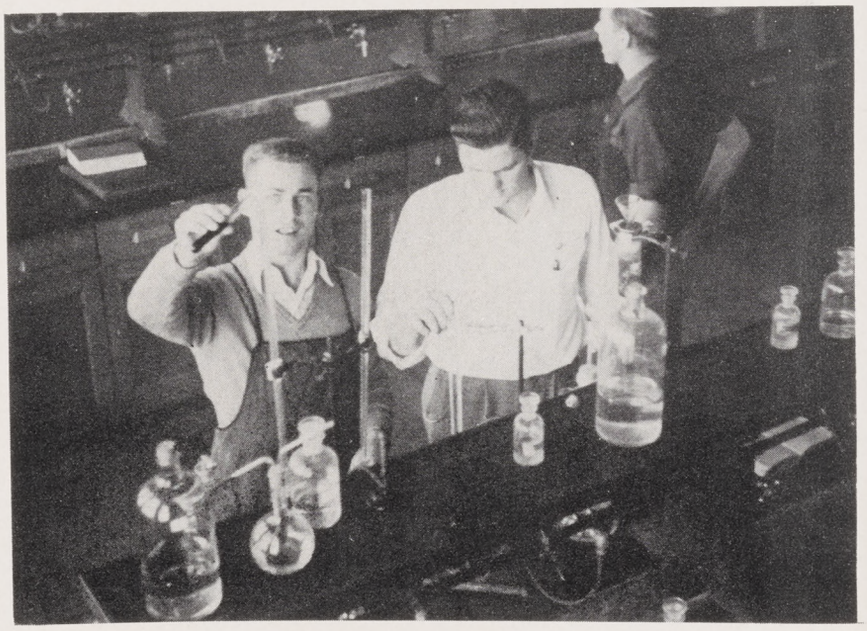

The California Rodeo is truly represented at Salinas Junior College. Six participants in the Finest Outdoor Girl contest are enrolled here. Every county in California is privileged to send its representative to Salinas to compete with the other girls. The first prize winner has a choice of a trip or a year at Salinas Jaysee; the second and third prizes are trophies. The contest is judged on the basis of out-door appearance, personality, and horsemanship. Salinas does not have a contestant but chooses a girl, in the same manner, to act as hostess. Each girl and her mother are guests of the Rodeo Association during the rodeo, at luncheons, banquets, dances, and other affairs in their honor. This year enrolled in Jaysee are Phyllis Gwynn, who was the Salinas hostess in 1937; Dorothy McAdams, who was hostess in 1938; Virginia Kirby, who was a contestant from Watsonville in 1938; Alice Vairora, who was the contestant from Gilroy in 1939; Ardene Eckford, who represented Soledad in 1939; and Bernadine Meadows, who competed as the Monterey contestant in 1939.
